

Polk County Health Department Immunization Q & A

Question:

How do you count back to determine whether the "Grace Period" rule applies?

Answer:

Iowa Immunization Code states:

Vaccine doses administered less than or equal to 4 days before the minimum interval or age shall be counted as valid. Doses administered greater than or equal to 5 days earlier than the minimum interval or age shall not be counted as valid doses and shall be repeated as appropriate.

To determine whether the 4 day grace period has been violated, you count in the following manner:

Example: Vaccine Given 2/10/06

Day 1	2/9/06	Valid Dose
Day 2	2/8/06	Valid Dose
Day 3	2/7/06	Valid Dose
Day 4	2/6/06	Valid Dose
Day 5	2/5/06	Invalid Dose - Needs to be repeated

Question:

How do you count forward when assigning an expiration date for a Provisional Certificate of Immunization?

Answer:

Iowa Immunization Code states:

The amount of time allowed for provisional enrollment shall be as soon as medically feasible but shall not exceed 60 calendar days. The period of provisional enrollment shall begin on the date the provisional certificate is signed. The person signing the provisional certificate shall assign an expiration date to the certificate and shall indicate the remaining immunizations required to qualify for a certificate of immunization.

The day you issue the provisional is Day 1 and you count forward from that day.

Example: Today's Date: April 11 2016

Day 1 - April 11th

Day 60 - June 9th - Provisional would expire at the end of this day - student would not be allowed to return to school the following day without proof of up to date immunizations.

Question:

When a student needs more than 60 days to complete a vaccine series due to minimum spacing requirements (i.e., Td # 3 or IPV # 3) can we just cross off the dates on the expired provisional and write in new dates?

Answer:

No, a new Provisional Certificate must be issued.

Iowa Immunization Code states:

If at the end of the provisional enrollment period the applicant has not completed the required immunizations due to minimum interval requirements, a new Iowa Department of Public Health Provisional Certificate of Immunization shall be issued. All issued provisional certificates must be maintained with the original provisional certificate until the applicant submits a certificate of immunization.
